Prom and Graduation '81 Feature Stairway to Heaven and Commencement

The culminating events for the spring season were the prom, held for the first time in the armory, and the commencement program held for the first time on the football field. At the prom, (1, 2) couples danced to the beat of Chess amid a silver and blue fantasy of decorations. For the first time in over a decade the Valedictorian, Salutatorian, and two students, one elected by the senior class and the other by the faculty, (Harold Chestnut, Myra Ingram) presented the commencement speeches. Another first was that the girl graduates wore gowns of white. (3) Humanities scholars (not pictured) were Pete Gibson and Gregg Webb.

Denise Harris shared the Green Scholarship with Michael Stephens. (4) Harold Chestnut, president of the senior class, received the DAR Award. Marion Selby, Salutatorian, recipient of the GP Scholarship, and Michael Stephens look on as Anita Rose and Wanda Chandler receive the Rockacharlie Scholarship (5).

"Memories" Theme Marks Prom and Graduation '82

To the beat of Kick, couples danced away at the prom held in the armory April 30. Juniors had raised money through the sale of Christmas ornaments and dues to pay for the gala event. Mrs. Roach and Mr. Kientz supervised the decorating after school to stage the atmosphere for "Memories." (9) Janice Miles and her date dance to the music. (10) C. Robinson, class president, and R. Butts, SCA President, await the senior promenade.

On June 6, 1982, the four student speakers continued to reminisce on the foundation and building of their educational background in Greenville County Schools. (2) T. Richardson, Valedictorian, and G. Doyle, Salutatorian, were joined by Julia Warriner, selected by the faculty and C. Robinson, selected by the ninety-three graduating seniors, some of whom are shown (6) marching onto the football field for commencement and (8) getting ready for the last line-up in the Halls of G.C.H.S.

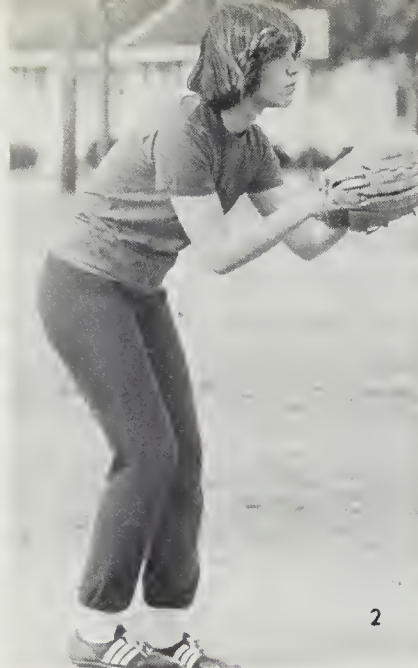

During the ceremony, the Humanities Scholars were given certificates for their five years of perseverance — T. Brown, R. Butts, G. Doyle, G. Dupree, P. Harding, K. Jones, R. Kapinos, K. Owens, A. Powell, T. Richardson, V. Sasser, C. Smith, T. Vasser, J. Warriner, P. Wilson, and D. Wyatt.

Spring Brings the Urge to Play Ball

EAGLES AND EAGLETTES PROVIDE TOUGH COMPETITION

Donning their new gold uniforms, the Eaglettes entered the 1982 season with enthusiasm and high hopes. Despite a 1-9 district record, the team was a tough opponent in losing four team All-District outfielder with a .406 batting average, while Theresa Hill, Valerie Hicks, and Linda Sasser were named to the second team All-District.

The '82 Baseball Team improved over their '81 performance not only through the outstanding leadership of the senior ball players but in their spirit of team cooperation, playing together to score 7 wins and 6 losses. Receiving recognition on the Southside All-District Baseball Team were Kenny Tomlinson, Utility and Wiley Lee, Second Base, on the 1st Team. Names to 2nd team were Kenny Tomlinson, Pitcher and Trey Whitehead, 3rd base. Honorable Mention were Gene Doyle, shortstop and David Barr, outfield.

Track Team Number One in District

The Greenville Eagles soared to the top for the third year as DISTRICT CHAMPIONS but fell to fourth place in the Regional. They finished an impressive tenth place at the State Competition at James Madison University against over eighty other schools — in all an excellent record. 1. P. Peebles was favored to win the 440 but did not place. 2. M. Easter's discus throw was good for second at the District meet. 3. R. Hill took part in the relay, 100, 220 and the long jump. 4. J. Owens, a disappointment in the high jump, came on strong to finish fourth in 110 hurdles at the State meet. 5. M. Jones gives his all as his team turned out the best time in State. 6. W. Gillus crosses over the bar at 6'2" to qualify for the Regionals. 7. B. Smith displays his style in High hurdles. Smith finished fourth in the State on the 330. 8. C. Robinson strains to make 21 feet 1 1/4 inches. Robinson also ran the first leg of the relay which finished second in the state.

The Greenville County Track Team ran away with the Southside District Title for the second consecutive year in a row. The Eagles took the crown by winning first place in seven of the ten running events. After the District Championship, the Eagles jumped into trouble at William and Mary. They finished fifth out of some thirty schools. They did, however, manage two first places as District Champion Bradley Smith took the three hundred meter hurdles in 38.5 seconds and the mile relay team of M. Jones, T. Smith, A. J. Johnson and B. Smith crossed the tape at 3.27 seconds in the regional competition. Despite a disappointing fifth in the regional, Coach Curtis Lee traveled to Harrisonburg with ten of the best track athletes. The team came away with a tenth place. B. Smith placed fourth in both hurdles and the 880 relay team of C. Robinson, R. Harrison, A. J. Johnson, and M. Jones finished fourth.

1. B. Smith does it again. 2. V. Winstead flies up and over. 3. G. Gallimore set up a record to become District Champion in the one-mile run. 4. T. Ricks comes down home stretch.

The '82 team had four scrimmages before the District match. They won three of the four scrimmages against Lunenburg and Nottoway. Greenville won the District Match over Nottoway by a large margin. The team then proceeded to the Regional Match at the Brandermill Country Club. The team placed 6th of 7 teams to end up a very respectable season. Gerry Vincent was the team leader by having the low gross score for every match.

"I command you to return my tray" was a typical demand heard in the cafeteria on "I command day" when the boys gave orders to the young ladies. There were others we won't mention as the student body got into the action engendered by the many contests. Homerooms raised money for their Mr. and Miss Spirit contest with Miss Spirit, Sylvia Moody, and Mr. Spirit, Doug Edwards raising the top dollars. Spirit links were on sale as the chain of messages were built to encircle the football field. Students dressed in the fifties look with Doug Edwards and Linda Sasser as two of the winners. Cars and trucks were hastily decorated for the Wednesday afternoon parade and a bonfire, burning the Bluestone Baron as the effigy, was a forerunner Thursday of the victory in the game Friday as the Barons fell prey to the Eagles in a 38-8 game. At half time the Sophomore, Junior Attendants and Senior Queen contestants rode on the field in convertibles. After the game there was a victory dance held in the gym with spirits soaring and bodies swaying to the best of "Chester D."

Cheerleaders Raise Steam to Fire Up Teams

Throughout the season both Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleaders played a key role in promoting school spirit. The addition of the Junior Varsity squad provided a broader opportunity for freshman and sophomore participants to cheer their division teams to victory.

Both squads received Super Squad awards for their excellence at the National Cheerleaders Association summer spirit camp at the College of William and Mary.

The wings of the Eagles were clipped in the second half of the season as they lost four of nine and thus finished with a 10-6 record. They still managed to place third on the All Southside Team. GCHS Library Provides Cargo of Information

On the Good Ship GCHS, the library can be equated with the -hip's-hold — Its-10,561 volumes of information edification of inquisitive minds. It also numbers sixty-nine magazine subscriptions and seven newspapers for those interested in current events. This precious cargo was supervised by our trained student projectionists and checked in and cut the audio-visual equipment. She also ordered the films used in the classrooms and sent out lists of overdue books. "Count out your nickels, Mateys" was the cry at the end of each six weeks. Nickels inflated into dollars at the end of the year if books were not returned to this proper store room.

Guidance Charts New Courses, Maps Navigation Through School

"What we need is more electives" has been the consensus of opinion for some time. In considering that need Guidance drew up new course offerings and several became a reality for the '81-'82 term. Chorus was offered for the first time in several years as Economics, Speech and Drama and Advanced Physical Education. Two classes in Business Law and Management and in Reading Improvement were set up and required courses of 9th grade English, Math and Physical Education were transferred from the Junior High School.

With the closing of the Learning Center, space to accommodate Mrs. Tucker's TMR class was set up in room 200. Though still essentially a self-contained class, students were "mainstreamed" into physical education classes and chorus.

4. Shown working with several students is Mrs. Bradley, aide, and Mrs. Tucker, teacher.

Guidance also set up testing schedules for SRA, PSAT, ASVAB and GATB, which were useful tools in career planning as was the Annual College Day when representatives from a number of institutions of higher learning came to meet with students. Mrs. Vassar and Mr. Walton were always ready to help students with schedules, career plans, scholarships, financial aid information and in any counseling capacity.

SCA Is "Loveboat" of Planned Activities for Student Participation

All GCHS students automatically belong to the Student Cooperative Association to which every homeroom elects representatives. Officers were installed in a special candlelight service on September 9th. Together with sponsors and committees they got under way in October with a week of exciting events: Green and Gold Day, the first Homecoming parade since the 60's, a bonfire and funeral of the Bluestone Baron, culminating in the pep rally and the Homecoming game and festivities. They assisted with College Day in November and sponsored the Thanksgiving Assembly. Rev. James Cary, Jr., pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church, (6) is shown with C. Harrison pledging allegiance to the flag before delivering the address. The youth choir of the St. Paul Church of God in Christ (3) furnished the music, accompanied by Mrs. Emma Harrison. In December SCA sponsored the Christmas Door Decoration contest with Miss Harrison's Reading Improvement class capturing first place, followed by a second place tie with Mrs. Allen's and Mrs. Holmes' classes and Mrs. Bennett's coming in third. A Christmas Assembly featured the GCHS choir and student skits — the Annual Black History-Brotherhood week at the end of February featured daily events such as exhibits, a black culture quiz, films and black history projects. The special guest for the program was Miss Audree Jolly, Miss Black Teenage World of Virginia, 1980. A clean-up-fix-up campaign was conducted in April and new officers were elected in May.

Co-ed Hi-Y Club Is Ticket to Model General Assembly

Before going on any trip you need a ticket (or a gas credit card) to get you to your destination. The G.C.H.S. Beta Club remained active in 1981-82 and added eleven more to its membership. Several fund raisers were carried out including a chicken muddle. A Christmas tree was put up at school during the Christmas social. The money earned was spent for the State Convention at Roanoke. All enjoyed this trip, and the money left over financed the trip to Busch Gardens.

Forensics, Foreign Language and English Make Up Ship's Communications System — Lead to Fantastic Voyages

Whether through imaginative journeys into literature or on real trips to competitions, students expanded their horizons in class and club participation. Whether illustrating original sonnets in Mrs. Holmes class or in oratory at a regional meet, verbal communication was one of the aims reinforced by speech class, forensics, debate clubs and all language classes.

Upon Mrs. Povar's return, the class visited Richmond to observe the wonderful talent of Flamenco dancers. The study of cultural contributions of the French and the Spanish, along with the field trips, was the "icing on the cake" of foreign language study and brief break from the usual routine grammar drills and translations. Students, wishing many more trips, perfected the wish for all travelers with a "Bon Voyage" or a "Buen Viaje."

And Government Classes Launch Citizenship Responsibilities

The history and Government classes made a record number of fantastic voyages this year beginning with the trip to Yorktown October 19; to celebrate the two-hundredth anniversary of Cornwallis' surrender. They also saw "Mame" at The Swift Creek Mill Playhouse and toured the Philip Morris plant and The Virginia Art Museum. While visiting The Supreme Court and Judicial Building in Richmond, Federal Judges Warriner and Merhige met with them. They also went to the Attorney General's Office, the U.S. Marshalls' students toured the U.S. Capitol and Supreme Court; Humanities students went to the Smithsonian and Kennedy Center. Locally they attended Court sessions and did research at the clerk's office for papers on local history. Numerous Guest speakers, state troopers sheriffs' Deputies, Juvenile Officers and people from polls in the gubernatorial election last November when Chuck Robb won out over Marshall Coleman — or in local council elections and voter registration. This social history week through research projects, art and an exhibition and "Feast." Involvement and action were synonymous with good citizenship responsibilities.

Math-Science Club and Classes Propel Students Into Knowledge of Technologies

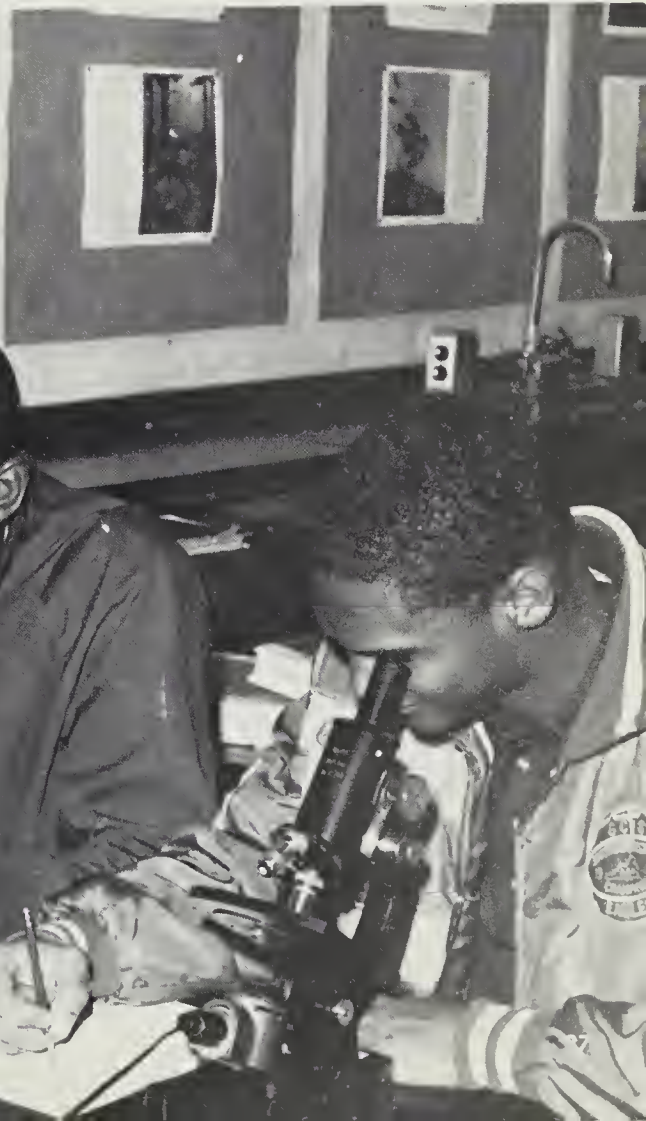

Fueled by field trips, G.C.H.S. math and science students saw first-hand some of the latest technologies. The month of December was highlighted by a trip to Southside Community College's computer center, and two other groups toured the Va. Science Museum in March. In order to apply what they had learned eighteen students attended the District Science Math Conference in March. Taking home awards were: Danny Staton, 2nd place — Metric; Jean Adams, Hon. mention — Algebra II; Aronda Howard, 4th place — Geometry; Cliff Harvey, 3rd place — Trigonometry; Carl Robinson, 4th place — Trigonometry; Mark Richardson, 3rd place — Biology; and Perry Jefferson, 1st place — Physics project.

In order to get anywhere in the world, the business skills that will take you there and be developed in classes like office services, Clerk Typist, Stenography I, Typing, Accounting, and Business Law and Management. Art Classes Offer Fantastic Voyages Into World of Imagination and Creativity

With the advent of 1981, art classes embarked on a journey into the past, studying local history, houses and landmarks in preparation for painting a ninety-six square foot bicentennial mural on the History of Greenville County. Preliminary sketches of historical houses were made in pen and ink, water colors, and acrylics. Many of those were later incorporated into the mural which was installed in the courthouse corridor on May 31, 1981. All matted paintings were judged in a contest sponsored by Clary Realty and 1. Some of the club's projects this year were selling Eagle key rings, baking cupcakes for the teachers, having a Christmas dinner, roller skating, taking orders and selling chocolate Easter eggs.

While Mrs. Collins was on Maternity leave, Mrs. Carter substituted. The sewing continued as students learned to operate both home and industrial-type machines. Pants, blouses, skirts, jackets, jumpsuits, curtains, and pillows were some of the items made. With Mrs. Collins' return, units on money management, housing, use of household equipment, marriage and the responsibilities of parenthood, food preparation and nutrition were all practical lessons for future homemakers.

Instrumental Music Program Builds for Better Future Band

This year the Instrumental Music Department has gone through many changes and reorganization under the direction of Mr. Schuhart and his assistant, Mr. Clore, who came to the school in January.

The department is in the process of developing a band program that will not only give its students a fine musical experience through performance but also cultural awareness and aesthetic beauty that will lead them to a more effective lifestyle.

In order to go to work during school hours in the shop, downtown in local businesses, or at the hospital, students booked passage to these specific "ports" of entry by enrolling in classes which required and coordinated on the job training. ICT, which means Industrial Cooperative training, had Mr. Charles Bass, a newcomer, at the helm. Students in ICT classes and the ICT-VICA club found new and rewarding experiences throughout the community and in regional and state competitions.

"What's for lunch?" This question was asked more frequently at G.C.H.S. than any other. If the menu wasn't posted in the classroom or heard on WEVA that morning, many ventured a guess from the smells coming from the kitchen. In addition to the usual type A plate, an a la carte item was available this year. Mrs. Jones and the cafeteria staff served an average of 335 lunches daily in four shifts. The student plate was fifty-five cents and the adult plate rose to one dollar — a real bargain in today's inflated economy.

Principal

Located on 55 acres, the Vocational Technical Center was built in 1969 by masonry students who got on the job training under Mr. Mckinley Tucker and staff. When Mr. Tucker became Director of Vocational Education, in 1977, Mr. Santee Thomas became principal and he continued services to the school system. The classes under Mr. Boone and Mr. Easter repaired the locker rooms, built freezer room additions onto the cafeterias at both senior and junior high schools. They laid brick on picnic grills, fireplaces and chimneys in various places and continued individual projects such as storage sheds. The latest job was the painting of the new Employment Commission Office on Baker Street. Skills and services were learned in the classes and used in the community.

In the skill competition the club entered (3) competitive areas. Architectural Drafting — John Ross placed 9th and Ronnie Johnson placed 11th among (26) twenty-six students. Cabinet Making — Greg O'Berry who represented our Building Maintenance and Repair class was awarded third place for a task well done.

They went to the State Fair in Richmond and sent delegates to the FFA Convention at VPI in June.

Superintendent Sam A. Owen Retires

Retrospect: The Last Dozen Years Under Superintendent Sam A. Owen

After having received another four-year contract last spring to continue as superintendent, it came as a surprise when Mr. Owen announced his retirement to take effect December 31, 1981. Appointed in August 1968, he had led the Greenville County Schools through difficult times of desegregation, planning and implementing the transition in 1969 of bus routes, teachers and students to the six schools in the system. In the early 70's, concerns about student performances of basic skills surfaced on standardized tests required by the Commonwealth of Virginia. Greenville County students were ranked as lowest in the state. Responding to the problem, he and his staff formulated a program now known nationally as "Promotion Based on Achievement," begun in 1973-74. That June, parental concerns were made known when children not performing on grade level were scheduled to repeat the grade, even though they had received passing grades on their report cards, but did not test on their grade level on the SRA. Half-step promotion classes were instituted for those who had not mastered skills for full promotions. An alternative program — Occupational Proficiency Training, was designed for those 14 years old who desired a vocational practical skill instead of the high school level curriculum. This innovative, practical program received national coverage in Time, Reader's Digest, The Washington Post, and The New York Times. ABC, CBS, and NBC came and filmed the Greenville County story. Other school divisions have since studied and incorporated the program pioneered here into their curriculum. Mr. Owen wrote about the Greenville experiments in the Kappan, a prestigious educational publication in 1977 and addressed many school divisions all over the United States. With his easygoing, folksy manner, Mr. Owen told how Greenville County, one of the poorest in Southside Virginia, with old facilities and limited funding, was able to raise scores significantly through teaching emphasis on back to basics and through individualized records of each pupil's mastery of objectives and skills drawn up for each grade level. This increased not only the work load on teachers, but also their accountability. The classroom teacher was the recognizable key to raising and maintaining the standards of achievement based promotions. Mr. Owen is to be commended for his insights, innovations and leadership. His block system was especially tailored to the needs peculiar to Greenville County with the transporting of students between the high school and the Vocational Technical Center, built under the direction of Mr. Owen to train students in the practical skills of building and farming. This plant, built by students getting on the job training experience, was another first for the Southside Virginia area. Mr. Owen's efforts to provide for the needs of the school system as economically as possible made his accomplishments even more notable.

'82 Governor's School Nominee to Attend Lynchburg Campus

Greensville County High sophomore George Newsome will be among the four hundred eighty of Virginia's most talented high school students selected to attend the Governor's School for the gifted this summer held at three state colleges and at Langley Research Center at Hampton. Newsome will attend the session at Randolph-Macon Women's College. He was nominated by a committee of educators from the local school system because he is "outstanding among the students."

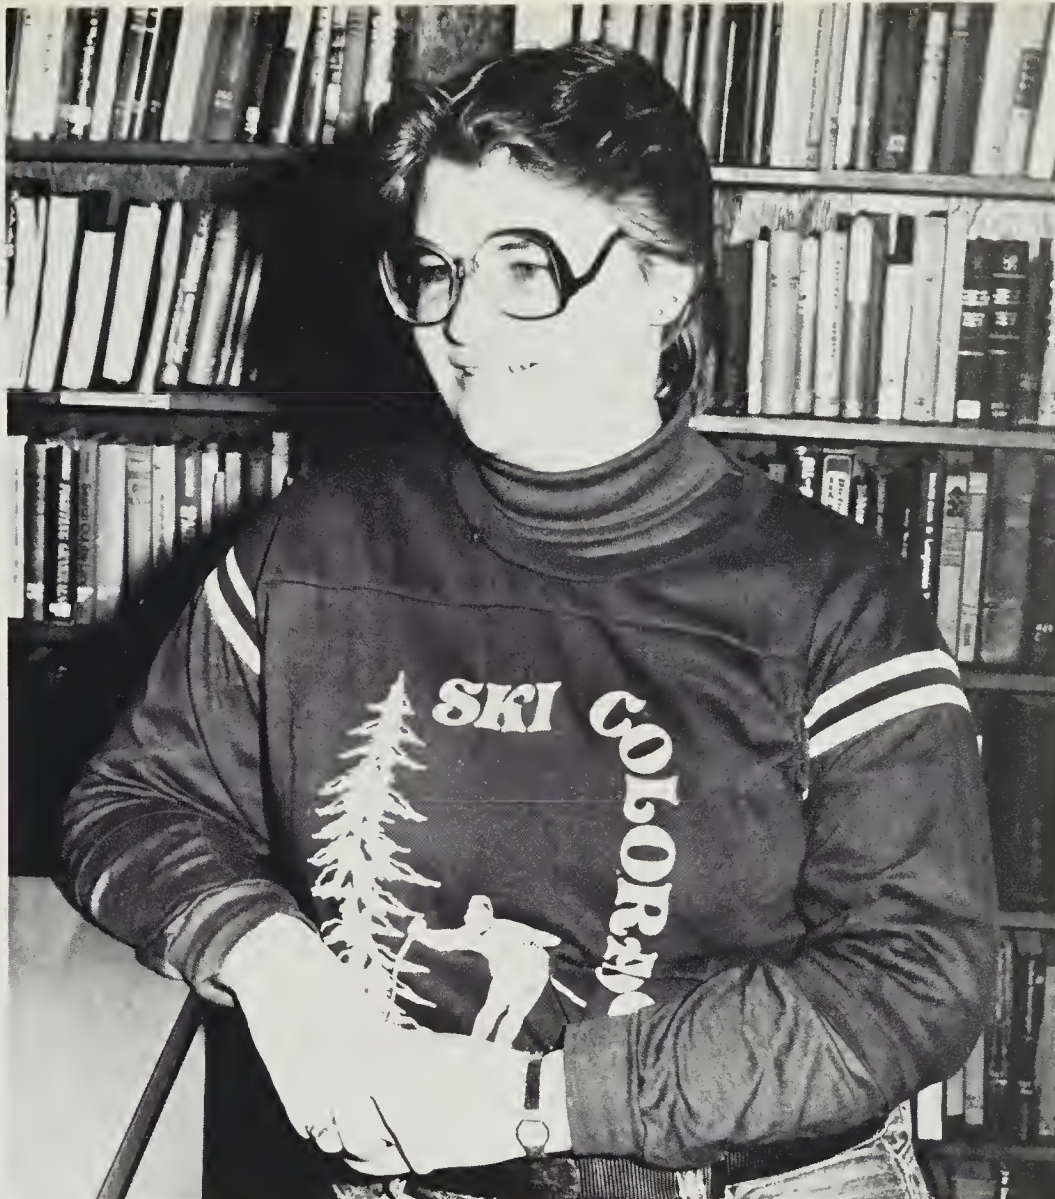

Approximately one hundred fifty students will attend each of the centers at Longwood, Mary Washington and Randolph-Macon Women's College where sessions will run from June 20 to July 17. Twenty-two students will attend a special-interest section of the school to be held for the first time at the NASA Langley Research Center, Hampton, from June 20 to July 30.

The students selected to attend the school this year bring to more than four thousand the number who have attended the Governor's school since it was started in 1973.

Mr. Sam A. Owen, Superintendent, congratulates Robert Kapinos upon his completion of studies at the 1981 session of the Governor's School for the Gifted.

New School Board Directs Changes

Five new appointees took their seats on the School Board with the one remaining veteran, Chairman Stith. Meetings were changed to the first Monday night of every month and some of these went into the next morning as people were encouraged to bring their grievances, comments, and concerns before the Board. In a surprise move, Superintendent Owen announced his resignation and retirement effective December 31st, 1981. Mr. J. H. L. Russell was named interim superintendent beginning duties on January 1st. In March, Dr. Martin Loughlin was appointed to begin duties July first.

Seniors Soon to Embark on World Voyage

Vigorously sailing or just drifting by, there are one hundred twelve seniors due to travel out into the world, each at his own pace, each reaching for that coveted ticket — the diploma. The baggage they take will depend on what they have accumulated during their sojourn in school. Whether brain or brawn, they must meet the world and head into the mainstream of reality.

In Memoriam

Alease Bonda Williams
October 29, 1963
April 25, 1981

IN MEMORIAM of Alease Bonda Williams

During Spring break of our Junior year, we lost a classmate whose memory we cherish. Alease's accidental and untimely death serves as an example of our transitory life and the ultimate voyage into eternity that we will all make at some time. We remember her eyes shining with the corners of her mouth curled into a mischievous, pixie grin; face soft, expectant, pleasant; a manner generally characterized by sunshine and smiles. We can almost hear her voice in this poem by Kahlil Gibran:

Lament me not, but sing songs of youth and joy Shed not tears upon me, but sing with harvest and the winepress;
Utter no sigh of agony, but draw upon my face with your
Finger the symbol of love and joy.
Disturb not the air's tranquility with chanting and requiems,
But let your hearts sing with me the song of Eternal Life;
Mourn me not with apparel of black
But dress in color and rejoice with me.
Talk not of my departure with sighs in your hearts;
Close your eyes and you will see me with you forever more.

Senior Humanities Earn Page for Elizabethan Drama

The only class to reach one-hundred percent support of Eagle '82 in subscription sales, Mrs. Holmes' and Miss Harrison's Humanities were given space for their Elizabethan production held February 18 at the Learning Center. Students wrote and acted out historical skits, dances, songs, and soliloquies in a colorful entertainment.

1. Tina Brown as Juliet and Karl Owens as Romeo set this balcony scene.

2. Julia Warriner as the aging Queen Elizabeth introduced the program.

3. Tim Vassar as Shakespeare narrated and recited "All the World's a Stage."

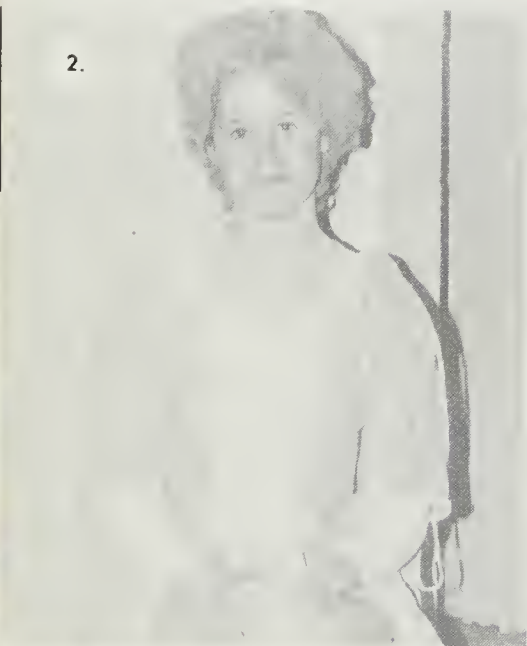

4. Rose Butts, Janice Miles, and Valerie Cain "crack up."

5. Valerie Cain as Mary, Queen of Scots is about to lose her head. That's Tim Richardson under the executioner's hood.

6. John Manson as Macbeth and Cliff Harvey as Banquo encounter the witches — R. Butts, G. Dupree and V. Cain.

7. Among the young Elizabeth's (Stephanie Wilson) many suitors was Philip of Spain (Mike Sledge).

8. "Hamlet" Kapinos considers whether "to be or not to be."

During Football Season, the Junior Class sponsored one after-game dance to help raise their sails for a smooth voyage to Prom-Land. Bearing the entire expense of the Junior-Senior Prom, Juniors also sold Christmas ornaments and planned other routes for raising revenue. After the financial fight with inflation and fund raising, Juniors have their sights on the solace of the Senior "Haven."

Sophomores "Canoe" Across the Meherrin Into Eagle Country in Transfer From Edward Wyatt Junior High School

The sophomore class came on strong in number and volume as they made their presence known at the pep rallies in the gym. Was it a 7 on the Richter Scale — or was it the noise of the new arrivals? Feeling confident in their voyage to the similar "twin" planet, they became a visible force. Early in their stay in Eagle Country, the two hundred and four baby Eagles built themselves a nest egg by selling cannisters of candy and popcorn — a good start on the road to future voyages.

The release of fifty-two American hostages held in captivity for 444 days in Iran coincided with the inauguration of President Reagan. International terrorism stalked the world perpetrating atrocities on the little known as well as the famous. An assassin's bullet wounded President Reagan in March, Pope John Paul II in May and killed Egypt's Anwar Sadat in October. Someone even shot at England's Queen Elizabeth II with blanks during a parade. Chester Bitterman, a Wycliffe Bible translator, was kidnapped by Marxist guerillas in Columbia and later killed. Nuns were gunned down in Salvador. IRA and Ulster violence took its toll of life in Northern Ireland. Americans in particular were top targets of leftist attacks in Europe. At home, the passing of many famous persons was mourned including movie stars, comedians, and many leaders.

Successes in space were scored with the space shuttle Columbia's return and Voyager II's photographs of Saturn.

Our country's first test tube baby was born and G.C.H.S.'s faculty members Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Povar, and Mrs. Roach have added to the local babies born. The first lady, Sandra Day O'Connor, was appointed to the post of justice in the Supreme Court by President Reagan while the ERA ammendment floundered and federal cuts were felt as many government agencies were trimmed or abolished. Locally, the closing of the Unemployment Office was felt as the coldest winter of the century brought snow upon snow plus sleet, ice, and the closing of school for eight consecutive days, postponing exams and other local activities.

After an icy winter, a dust bowl spring and seventeen days of rain beginning on May 20 when seniors embarked on their trip to the World's Fair in Knoxville, Tennessee, many anticipated a wet graduation, but the low hovering clouds abstained for the final program to be held on June 6 on the football field.
